

Questions Asked by Attendee

Q: How do I see video? I am only hearing webinar

A: did you log on to www.joinwebinar.com id# 406514510

Q: ok thanks

A: --N/A--

Q: all good. thanks. can we print. If so, at any time or end? Thanks for help

A: Not certain where the files will be posted - we'll send a notification when they're ready Presentations will be posted www.repartners.org

Q: Do any of the California presenters (or others) have perspectives, insights, ideas about the precedent, or example of success that the Campo Kumeyaay Nation leased land project, east of San Diego, represents?

A: Western initially tried to incorporate this project into the Aug 17 Webinar - however, due to the ongoing negotiations between the parties - all declined to participate or provide information other than what is already public

Q: Can Braden of Citizens repeat which project was in the photo of his last slide?

A: --The photo was of our Munnsville Project in Central NY - 34.5 MW.--

Q: Mike - any way to tell who is on the webinar? # of Tribes - geographic distr.? EPA R8

A: I do have registration information - we can discern affiliation of some participants but not all..

Q: Thanks. When you have time later, please let me know what you can discern.

Q: Are you looking for renewable interconnection projects for the Palo Verde Hub Project?

A: --Please see answer below.--

Q: So do you have a contact person that can answer my question?

A: We'll try to find an answer

Q: So do you have a contact person that can answer my question?

A: What is your Question?

Q: So do you have a contact person that can answer my question?

A: Apologies - you asked about the Palo Verde Hub. I'll forward that to the group to see if we can find an answer

Q: Are you looking for renewable interconnection projects for the Palo Verde Hub Project?

A: This is informational only. Western is not actively soliciting Renewable Projects for the Palo Verde Hub

Q: Do SCPPA (or any of their members) have direct incentives for Tribal Renewable Projects?

A: --I do not know of any direct incentives coming directly from SCPPA for tribal projects. I do not know if any of SCPPA's members may have any such incentives. (Richard Helegson)--

Q: Will it be possible to get copies of the presentations via email?

A: We'll look into that Presentations will be posted www.repartners.org

Q: The next LAPWD RFO/RFP process i mean?

A: --LADWP usually offers a renewable Request for Proposals (RFP) once a year. This past year, LADWP offered an RFP through SCPPA. LADWP is the Project Manager for renewable development at SCPPA and determined that pooling the RFP with the other SCPPA Cities was the most efficient method to get interest. The RFP closed in early 2011 with over 200 proposals. LADWP has not decided whether it will directly offer an RFP in 2012 or use SCPPA again. Either way, the earliest offering for LADWP would be the spring of 2012.

Q: Who was the speaker for SCPPA?

A: --Richard Helegson--

Q: Does SCPPA have a bi-lateral path for the RFP process for Tribal Projects, or do Tribe's have to go through the formal RFP process?

A: We generally prefer to go through the RFP process. We will consider unsolicited proposals, however, we generally do not award a contract without going through a competitive process where every potential proposer is able to fairly propose their project.

Q: As a 100% Native American Owned/Operated utility-scale developer ...

I aslo want to make sure tribe's understand that it is in their best interest to have their development partners have skin in the game. Don't just be a customer to them, be a partner with them. It will increase the project's chance for success.

A: --N/A--

Q: When does the LAWPF RFO process start?

A: --See Answer Above--

Q: The other thing Tribe's need to really understand, they are not developing/building power plants. They are developing/building financeable entities.

A: --N/A--

Q: can I activate my headset and use my mic? or can I just listen?

A: Participants are in listen only mode

A: Presentations will be posted www.repartners.org

Q: What do you mean by using "Nation" status to entice relationship with the LSE? Do you have concrete examples?

A: From Jim Charters - I was thinking about the relationship between Salt River Project and the Navajo Nation in the "Navajo Steam Plant" and the coal mining on the reservation supporting that facility. Recall that the Navajo's are doing a wind plant and SRP is taking the off take. Also, Steve Begay of Dine Power Authority is a long time participant in our planning sessions. I am sure that other LSEs have relationships with tribes in their area, some positive and some negative. These relationships can be in land use to cross their facilities, facilitation of joint ventures, and in load serving. The loads in the nations are not just tariff loads like your everyday home or business. This makes a relationship. Further, the Nation status can avoid certain state regulatory requirements, state taxes, etc.
